WHEAT POOL MEETING AT MOUNTAIN VIEW HALL

The district meeting of the Wheat Pool held in Mountain View Community hall last week was well attended, some people coming from considerable distance. Mr. Ken Burns acted as chairman.

Mr. Win. Pettigrew, field man for the Wheat Pool, explained the great service the Wheat Pool had provided the farmers of Western Canada in protecting their interests these many years, and how they had emerged from the troubled crop years 1929-32, to the present sound financial position.

Mr. Pettigrew also outlined the benefits of a Junior Grain Club to any community, stating it was an excellent way in which to improve the quality of seed and grain grown in any district. He said the Wheat Pool is financing the Junior Grain and Garden Clubs, and would be glad to start one in Didsbury if sufficient interest was shown.

Mr. H. Taggart, Wheat Pool delegate for this district, said there is a new generation of farmers taking hold who may not be aware of the efforts their parents went to in building up the great farm organizations we have had in Alberta to protect their interests, and he urged the younger generation to pull their weight in progressive farm enterprises. Educational moving pictures shown were greatly enjoyed by the children present.

One tax consolidation, and one old age pension application was approved.

A communication from the Department of Public Works regarding the request of the ratepayers at the annual meeting that the roads from Olds east to Trochu, and from Carstairs east to Acme be declared secondary highways, advised that it would be necessary for the municipality to pass a resolution agreeing to pay 40 per cent of the cost of all work, spread over a period of five years. The secretary was instructed to communicate further with the department and ascertain the approximate cost of construction.

Council passed a resolution asking to have Twp. 28 and 29, Rges. 28 and 29, W4th, and Rges. 1, 2, 3, and 4, W4th, included in the proposed Calgary rural municipal hospital district.

World Wide Anarchy Might Have Resulted, Had There Been No British Empire

(By Sir Norman Angell in the London Daily Mail)

ANY Englishman travelling or living in America is likely to find himself asked to "explain the British Empire" in much the same offensive line that a man might ask you to "explain" how you came to be carrying his umbrella. For about 90 out of 100 Americans regard the simple existence of the Empire as a crime. They believe that the time for repentance and liquidation—has come.

It is easy, of course, to reply simply that Americans are occupying the lands of a people who have been virtually exterminated; that the great regions of the south-west and territories like California, once Mexican and earlier Spanish, were not precisely Christmas presents to the United States.

But I suggest we should do better than that; that we should see for the Empire is of a very different kind; that we have failed in the past to present it as instantly as it ought to be presented; and that apart from the fact that if there had been no British Empire Hitler would have won this war—a case which a world presently—the case lies broadly along these lines.

The supreme need of our atomic age is to avoid anarchy on the one side and the tyranny of a world totalitarian police-state like that which Hitler would have established on the other.

Anarchy would almost certainly arise if the more dissolution of Empire were to involve—as such dissolution almost certainly would—the setting up of small independentities in Asia, Africa, and Europe, Europe dominated by rival local chieftains with meagre local ambitions.

That such anarchy is the almost inevitable result of imperial disintegration we know by repeated experience, ancient and modern.

After the fall of the Roman Empire Europe drifted into the utter chaos of the Dark Ages.

The nations of the Hapsburg Empire had much to complain of and had limited freedom.

Since the dissolution of that Empire its constituent nations have suffered infinitely more and have much less freedom.

If we are to get a world government with sufficient power to manage the atomic bomb, and yet one that will not use that power to suppress all freedom, we cannot afford casually and lightly to tear to pieces such centres of co-operation as exist in the British Commonwealth and Empire.

Colonial empires should be transformed by steady evolution, first of all into unions like that of the British Commonwealth—each constituent nation having the maximum of independence consistent with common action for defence and peace.

We know now that we must somehow get a world authority with power to control the atom bomb or perish.

If we are to have a world State we want it to be the right kind. We could have had protection from the bomb by surrendering to Hitler and Hirohito.

We wished that. But that is the kind of protection we would have had for the existence of the British Commonwealth and Empire.

For if, in 1910, after the fall of France, there had been no Allied bastions at Gibraltar or Malta, no troops in Egypt to defend the Suez Canal and repel Ottoman and prevent junction of the German and Japanese forces converging upon India and subjecting it to as much invasion as Pao China actually did suffer, then not only Britain but Australia would have fallen.

There would have been no adequate Pacific base for MacArthur, no Atlantic base for Eisenhower, no adequate base in India for aid to China, no means of aiding Russia.

And Hitler would have won the war.

This is the supreme fact of the whole world situation, which critics of the Empire tend to ignore or lightly brush aside.

They do not deny the truth that without the Empire the totalitarian form of government, with its vast police systems and suppression of all political freedoms, would have dominated the world.

But a great many of those critics have forgotten the fact or treat it as of subsidiary importance. In the atomic age it is a supreme point.

It is sometimes argued that colonialism is the major cause of war. Colonialism may be as evil as you like, but in fact no great war, no world war for a century and a half has arisen from the revolt of colonial peoples.

World War I did not so arise, Germany was not a colony in 1914 fighting against Imperialist oppressors.

Nor did World War II so arise, Germany was not a colony in 1939.

Nor was Japan a colony suffering under oppression by China when she made war.

Whatever the offences of Britain in India or in Africa, the unrest of the peoples there played no part in

Grading Of Eggs

All Eggs Bought And Sold In Canada Must Be Graded

There are 1,000 Registered Egg Grading Stations in Canada and under the Regulations each station is required to employ competent grading help, to use approved grading devices, and to maintain temperatures and general conditions which are not injurious to the eggs. All such stations are privately operated, and are located by provinces as follows: British Columbia, 59; Alberta, 188; Saskatchewan, 325; Manitoba, 129; Ontario, 259; Quebec, 221; New Brunswick, 17; Nova Scotia, 28; and Prince Edward Island, 67.

Under Dominion Regulations, supported by Provincial legislation to cover the fields of purely Provincial jurisdiction, it is required that all eggs bought and sold in Canada must be dealt on a basis of grade. All grading is according to the Canadian Standard Egg Grades and is carried out only in Registered Egg Grading Stations, with the single exception that a producer may grade his own eggs for sale. It is the function of the staff of the Provincial Inspection Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, to check and supervise grading stations including grade returns to producers, to check the grading of eggs as sold in wholesale and retail channels, and to inspect and issue grade certificates for eggs moving in carlots between provinces or to export markets. The quantity of eggs inspected has increased substantially in recent years. For example in 1939 the amount of eggs inspected and for which grade certificates had been issued was 357,818 cases. In 1941 the number had risen to 3,231,443 cases. In each case there are 30 dozen eggs. In the latter year, in addition to inspections, the inspection staff made 15,555 calls on wholesale and retail establishments to check the grading of eggs offered for sale.

Good Salesmanship

Sir Thomas Lipton Had Good Idea To Impress Customers

When Thomas Lipton was a youngster he spent much time in his father's grocery store and witnessed, with unimpeachable impartiality, the older Lipton's lack of showmanship. One day he watched unhappily as his father attempted to sell a customer a half dozen eggs. After the customer had gone he said:

"Father, you should let Mother sell the eggs."

"Why?" asked the father in surprise.

"Well," replied the future millionaire, "Mother's hands are a lot smaller than yours, and the eggs would look bigger."

Scientists estimate the age of the earth's outer crust at approximately 3,000 millions years.

There Are Many Details In Connection With Bringing A Serviceman's Bride To Canada

THERE is much more to bringing a Canadian serviceman's bride to Canada than one might at first suppose, and there are a good many people involved before the bride eventually reaches her new home. The first step is the bride's registration with the Civilian Registration Section, Canadian Wives Bureau, London. Here the girl is requested to give names and addresses of relatives or friends with whom she plans to reside either permanently or temporarily.

Arrangements which have been made in Canada for the reception of the bride are required to be thoroughly investigated by the Department of Mines and Resources and immigration branches to ascertain if they are suitable, as far as housing conditions will permit. The wife and children, if any, will be medically examined, and when shipping becomes available the long journey really begins.

When she is ready to go she is given a priority grading according to the necessity of her return to Canada. All relevant facts are considered such as her husband being still in or already discharged from the services. She is advised how to transfer excess funds over 10 pounds which she is allowed to bring with her, assisted in the transfer of excess baggage and insurance on baggage, if required. She is sent baggage labels and complete instructions where to report, and if she has to stop overnight in London en route, a hostel accommodation and meals are provided along with transfer of baggage.

These last two are big items in the United Kingdom as hotel accommodation is expensive and hard to obtain.

In other words, she is shepherded from her doorstep to her ship and there given every ocean transportation exit permit, etc. and even if dependents arrive at the boat with more than ten pounds in their possession this is taken care of for them and sent to the nearest branch bank in Canada.

Aboard the ship she is befriended with great care so as to make her trip as congenial as possible. Of course, travel is more crowded today than in normal times, but the attention is caused by Red Cross V.A.D.'s who assist the dependents in organizing into self assistance groups on board ship. Then, too, English girls have become accustomed to hardships during the past six years and there is little complaining, the authorities reported.

Where possible a nursery is set up to take care of the children and games arranged for the dependents. A trained staff of service personnel is on board including a doctor to see to their welfare.

When the ship docks at a Canadian port, immigration officials go aboard to complete the registration which will make the girls Canadian citizens. Changes of destination and stopovers will have been arranged by the ship's commanding staff but such changes are made only on the request of the girl's husband or new relationship, or on bona fide evidence of a change in address. This is done in order to save the new Canadian citizen confusion. Army paymasters exchange the British English money for Canadian dollars; then she may play until the other comes to hand.

After disembarking the girl must have her baggage inspected by customs officials and in the meantime the Canadian Red Cross nursery staff will have been alerted, otherwise arrangements will have been made for small groups to travel on regular trains. Usually on a bride's speed there are about 250 people, one third of those being children ranging in age from seven weeks to several years.

Red Cross V.A.D.'s accompany these trains to dispense medical supplies and comforts to the girls. There is also a medical officer on board who deals with each girl's slight accidents and illnesses are treated en route but the medical officer has the authority to send dependents to hospitals if he feels it is necessary. That of such emergencies is met by the Canadian government.

A liaison officer is also in attendance and it is his job to look after the welfare and interests of the wives to anticipate, discuss and iron out difficulties in advance rather than let them arise later. Much valuable information is secured in this manner beneficial to both the authorities and the girls.

In charge of the entire train is the train conducting officer who is responsible for delivering the brides to their final destinations, and for tickets, berths, meals and baggage. If a bride leaves the special train carrying her to her new home for the purpose of a stopover, she will be required to make her own further travel arrangements. This can prove difficult at the present time because of restricted transportation facilities.

Before dependents arrive in their country their names are sent over by cable and from this information nominal rolls are made up showing to whom they are going and their address along with other pertinent information. These nominal rolls are corrected just after the ship leaves the United Kingdom and this information is sent out to districts, Red Cross and those concerned with the movement of dependents so that the next of kin may be informed in order to be able to meet the dependents upon their arrival. It is added, however, that it is difficult to move special trains on a schedule especially where there are stops all along the line.

Train liaison officers report the most difficult journey is from Halifax to Toronto. The girls are too excited and so many are getting off between these stops they never completely with down. However by the time they reach Winnipeg they are in the swing of things and enjoy seeing their new country.

VOTE FOR WATER AND SEWAGE

Next Monday, March 11, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. proprietary electors of Didsbury will have the opportunity of casting their ballot in favor of the greatest achievement in the history of the town—the installation of water and sewage—and you are urged to mark your ballot with an "X" after the word "FOR" on the ballot paper, if you want these modern conveniences. If you are not to be serviced with water and sewage at the present time you are still urged to vote "FOR", thus signifying your approval of being in favor of giving Didsbury the boost it needs to transfer the town from "a jerk water" (as the Oils Gazette termed Didsbury last year) into a community of modern improvements, worthy of the patronage of the people of the excellent agricultural district which the town serves.

Citizens of Didsbury should remember that during the past year every town in Alberta voting on water and sewage passed their by-laws almost unanimously. These towns included Innisfail, Olds, Ponoka, Three Hills, Vulcan and Raymond.

The people in these other towns of Alberta know the advantages modern conveniences are to their community, and we in Didsbury should be guided by what they have accomplished. We do not want to be the only town without modern conveniences, and for this reason you are urged to mark your ballot next Monday in favor of the water and sewage by-laws.

Our Work Is

JOIN
the RED CROSS

And help us carry on this work that MUST be done

- + Crippled children throughout Alberta have been helped for a quarter of a century by the Red Cross. Nearly five thousand have been given treatment at the Junior Red Cross Crippled Children's Hospital. This care includes the finest medical, surgical and dental skill, teaching in their school subjects by qualified teachers, instruction in handicrafts and other pastimes to keep the little patients interested and happy—AND IT'S ALL FREE TO THOSE WHO NEED IT. A new hospital is about to be built to give greater facilities for restoring health and strength to these little deformed bodies. Will you help to give a crippled child a chance to run and play and have a happy and useful life?
- + The need for blood donor clinics and blood banks is not over. While the terrible demands of the battlefield are mercifully at an end, there are still lives to be saved in our own communities by blood transfusions. The Red Cross plans to maintain clinics to make this life-saving service freely available to our own citizens when the emergency arises. One million dollars will be required to provide this free service to civilians in Canada.
- + Training our citizens in first-aid and home nursing — instructing our junior members (42,222 of them in 1,000 branches in Alberta's schools) in health, safety methods and good citizenship—helping and visiting our wounded veterans—ever ready with relief and comfort in disaster—these are some of the services that demand a strong Red Cross in peacetime too.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Henry Hooper, who died March 9, 1945.
White robes we shall wear in that city.

I mused, as I raised to the light
a delicate sweet-scented flower
In silvery garments of light.
A symbol of hope that is deathless—
Of love that the years cannot dim
A symbol of Jesus, our Saviour,
And life everlasting with Him.

Dear Mother, you've passed from our vision, You've entered that home of the blessed.

Made white in the blood of our Saviour,
To dwell with the brightest and best.
This snowy-white blossom of loveliness rare—
In memory of you, dearest Mother—
A pledge that I'll meet you up there.

TREE PLANTING
IN ALBERTA

The forestry branch of the Alberta Government supplied between 400 and 500 farms with certain varieties of trees in 1945. T.
F. Blegen, provincial director of forestry, estimated that 375,000 trees took root in Alberta soil.
He estimates that 500,000 young trees will be planted in Alberta in 1946.

The seedling trees available are:
White spruce, lodgepole pine,
Scotch pine, Douglas fir, Bur oak,
Green ash, Red oak, American elm, Laurel and Leaf willow, Golden willow and northwest poplar.

These seedlings are to provide windbreaks and wood lots for farmers. Such plantings prevent soil drifting, improve the appearance of the farm, provide protection for gardens and small fruits and are of advantage in many other ways.

National Employment Service

benefits THE WHOLE community

National Employment Service

benefits THE WHOLE community

Regular employment and pay envelopes make for carefree families—for prosperous communities—for "good times" for employer and employee alike. The National Employment Service, with offices in more than 200 cities and towns across Canada, serves the needs of both employers and employees—and the local N. E. S. office takes its place in importance to the community among the time honoured community institutions—the Post Office, the Court House, the City Hall . . . . .

Without National Employment Service, the worker is left to his own initiative to find a job to support himself and his family. The employer may be unable to reach workers he requires. National Employment Service is the clearing house through which employer and employee are brought together, so that both may have their free choice of the entire employment market.

National Employment Service has

5 main functions:

- 1—Organization of the whole employment market,
and bringing together employers and employees;
- 2—Collection of information on employment problems for the use of Government, Management and Labour;
- 3—Administration of Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act;
- 4—Dealing with Unemployment Insurance Benefits;
- 5—Dealing with Out-of-Work Benefits for Ex-Service Personnel.

Make full use of the Local Office of National Employment
